EIGHT TRAPPED IN TUNNEL

DYNAMITE BLAST THOUGHT TO HAVE KILLED THE CREW

Fatal Accident Takes Heavy Toll Of Workmen

LITTLE HOPE FOR THE MEN

Scene of Explosion Is Part of New Water Works System

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 15.—(AP)—An explosion early today in a water tunnel being constructed under the Missouri river here is believed to have resulted in the death of eight workmen who were in the tunnel at the time.

Charles S. Foreman, engineer in charge of the construction, penetrated 1,000 feet back from the mouth of the tunnel through debris and smoke and reported that he could hear no sounds from the point of the explosion.

The crew of eight men went to work at eleven o'clock last night. They had two cases of dynamite, both of which are believed to have exploded.

The tunnel is a unit of Kansas City's new water system and will be used to bring water into the city from the plant located in North Kansas City.

FITE IS HERE

State Senator Fred Fite, of Jefferson county, was a Twin-City visitor yesterday, coming up from Birmingham on legal business.

Wife Declines To Testify Against Her Husband And Jury Acquits Him

Ed Francis, charged with assault with intent to murder, was acquitted late Tuesday afternoon in circuit court when his wife, exercising the prerogative of a wife, declined to testify in the case. Mrs. Francis was alleged to have been the victim of the attack charged by the state.

Under the law, it was pointed out, Mrs. Francis had the right to take the stand, or to refuse to take the stand as she desired.

The prosecution was conducted by Solicitor Almon, while Wert and Hutson appeared for the defense.

The old code, attorneys here today said, prohibited the appearance on the witness stand of a wife in a case in which her husband was a defendant, but under the new code the testimony of a wife under such circumstances is optional with her.

FEW 'UPSETS' IN PRIMARY FIGHTS

TWO MEN KILLED AS ROCK LETS GO

Michigan Governor Is Defeated For G.O.P. Nomination

(By Associated Press)

Surprisingly few upsets are indicated by latest returns from yesterday's political primaries in nine states.

Michigan furnished an exception incomplete figures showing the state's long time governor, Alexander J. Groesbeck trailing far behind Mayor Fred W. Green, of Ionia, for the republican gubernatorial nomination.

In Colorado too the "outs" hold the advantage over the "ins," Charles W. Waterman former Coolidge manager and anti-Klan candidate for the republican senatorial nomination having piled up a big margin over Senator Rice W. Means, commander-in-chief of the Spanish War Veterans and reputed head of the Klan in his state.

Former Governor Sweet is ahead among the democratic senatorial candidates.

Maryland's republican senatorial fight has become a "horse race," Representative John Philip Hill, leader of the wet bloc in the house, is running Senator Waller, a candidate for renomination on the republican ticket, neck and neck. Waller is claiming victory under the county unit system in vogue in Maryland.

Two senate veterans, Jones, republican of Washington, a dry and a world court supporter, and Smith, democrat, South Carolina, also a supporter of the court, are well ahead in their fight for renomination.

There was one prohibition turnover in New York, which voted only for congressmen members of the legislature. In the 34th district, former Representative Clarke a wet, defeated Representative Tolley, a dry, for the republican nomination for congress.

In Louisiana Senator Bousard, a wet, held a slight lead over former Governor Sanders, a dry, for the democratic senatorial nomination while in Vermont and Massachusetts, respectively Senators Dale and Butler were renominated on the republican ticket without opposition. Butler, who is the republican national chairman, will be opposed in the election by former Senator Walsh, named by the democrats.

Senator Jones, democratic opponent for the senate in Washington will be A. Scott Bullitt, who opposes the world court and who ever comes out best in the republican senatorial struggle in Maryland will run for the senate against Representative Tydings, a wet, and a supporter of Governor Ritchie Governor Ritchie, himself, breaking a precedent in Maryland politics, swamped his sole opponent for renomination by five to one and all but captured every single seat in the state convention.

POISON FOUND IN STOMACH OF BIRMINGHAM'S RUM VICTIM

BIRMINGHAM, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Strychnine was found in the stomach of Mrs. Edna Lowe, according to a report of the city laboratory to Coroner J. D. Russum today. The report was a verbal one and was to be followed later with a written analysis of the quantity found.

The poison, a deadly one, was found in the fluid washed from the woman's stomach at the hospital before she died. The finding of the strychnine upholds the contention of the woman's husband that the whiskey they both drank contained poison, but does not reveal how it came there.

Coroner Russum was expecting to question the husband, William Lowe, later today in that regard.

The woman died Sunday after being stricken suddenly ill. Lowe was made ill, he said, by drinking some of the whiskey which he alleged his wife partook of.

WAGNER RENEWS LEGAL FIGHT FOR CHANGE OF VENUE

Court Is Expected To Rule Today On Defense Plea

CONTEST BY STATE STARTS

Witnesses Attempt To Show Fair Trial Can Be Obtained

LEAKESVILLE, Miss., Sept. 15.—Testimony and arguments in the change of venue motion, filed by attorneys for Kinney Wagner, were concluded at noon today. The court took a recess until 1 o'clock when it is expected that Judge Bordeaux will render a decision. If the motion is granted, the case will be transferred to Clarke county and if not the work of empanelling a jury will proceed this afternoon.

LEAKESVILLE, Miss., Sept. 15.—(AP)—Kinney Wagner, alleged slayer of five men, who acquired his skill with firearms as a trick shot expert in a circus, today renewed his fight to avoid trial in circuit court here on a charge of murdering Murdock McIntosh, a deputy sheriff.

Witnesses were called to the stand again today to enable the court to rule on a plea of the defense for a change of venue which was made yesterday. Attorneys for Wagner contend that the defendant cannot obtain an impartial trial in Green county.

The charge against Wagner was brought before the court in special session here yesterday. A half hour after a grand jury had been charged an indictment, holding Wagner responsible for McIntosh's death, had been returned. A plea of not guilty was entered immediately.

Wagner is alleged to have killed McIntosh on Christmas Eve 1924 in McLain, 20 miles from here, when the deputy attempted to arrest him as a fugitive. Wagner had escaped from the Leakesville jail shortly before the shooting of the officer. He later escaped twice from Tennessee prison. The last time he made his getaway, was when he was being held in Kingsport under a sentence of death for slaying two officers.

He is alleged to have killed two men since then in Arkansas.

It appeared improbable at opening of court today that hearing of testimony will begin before adjournment, even if a change of venue is denied. Under the Mississippi law, it was explained, when a defendant files a petition for change of venue, if the state contests, it must then seek to show a fair trial can be secured without a transfer of the case. This accounted for the placing of state witnesses on the stand ahead of those summoned by the defense.

Several state witnesses are expected to take the stand on opening of court.

Highway Board Is Standing Pat On Official's Ruling

Commission Fails To Give Approvals To Road Delegates

PEOPLE HERE ARE HOPEFUL

Work Continues On Decatur-Courtland Road Building

Though other counties of the state were turned back by the highway commission in the regular monthly meeting of that body, Tuesday, Morgan and Lawrence county road interests still feel that there is a good chance for having the Decatur-Courtland road completed.

Other counties were refused flatly yesterday in their pleas for road construction, the highway commission being powerless to move in their favor owing to the ruling of the attorney general that every county will receive $250,000 of the $25,000,000 bond issue and that federal aid used in the various counties cannot be charged against the counties' quota.

Meanwhile there is a basis for the belief that the highway commission will again play its part in constructing suitable road between the Morgan county line and Fish Pond farm, where that farm reaches to the Lawrence county line. This strip of road reaches for a distance of two miles and is impassable in wet weather and too rough to negotiate in dry weather. The building of the two mile stretch will open the entire road, from Decatur to Tusculum, a distance of 45 miles.

Building Rapidly

Road forces continue to hammer away at their task on the Courtland-Town Creek section of the highway. The road has been constructed from Wheeler to Courtland and is now complete. It is likewise complete some distance out of Courtland toward Town Creek. The railway overhead fill is nearing completion. The bridge crossing the small stream which flows on the other side of Courtland is nearly completed and will be opened within the next thirty days, according to information reaching here. The road from Courtland to Town Creek and on to the Colbert county line will be graveled with the same surface used on the remainder of the road into Tusculum.

John A. Rogers, chief of highways, has not turned a deaf ear to the plea of Morgan counties who are asking for the completion of the two mile link and is hopeful that the commission will be allowed to let that contract.

Citizens of Albany-Decatur and people of Courtland are watching the negotiations with a great deal of interest. Local people believe that if the commission cannot sign the contract for construction that individual funds can be raised to take care of the repair until such time as the commission is in position to let the contract. Should this come to pass the sanction of the highway department would have to be given.

Fairview Revival Draws Big Crowds

After a bomb exploded against the side of his car, wounding several, leaving Mussolini unhurt, the Directorate of Fascism announced: "God has once again saved Mussolini for Italy."

It is said: "Murder never changed the course of history."

CHEMISTS in Philadelphia discuss the great loss in making steel. Mr. Willys, automobile maker, who worked with Henry Ford when they hired a little factory for seven hundred and fifty dollars a year, could tell chemists something interesting. A new process of making steel will be developed, by the right people, on a gigantic scale, and produce infinitely better steel at lower cost. Made at a lower temperature than is now employed, the steel will have the quality of old Damascus steel, beaten out by hand. Full details later.

DAVIS PLACED ON STAND BY THE DEFENSE

LARGE CROWD IS GATHERED

Four Albany Men Named On Jury To Try Case

Moving with rapidity the trial of A. L. (Shorty) Davis this afternoon was expected to go to the jury for decision.

Davis, Hartselle man, is charged with second degree murder, in connection with the slaying of Robert (Jeff) Howell, also of Hartselle. Davis was convicted on his first trial of second degree murder and sentenced to serve 40 years.

Attorney John Sample, defense counsel, continued to introduce testimony as the afternoon session opened, the state, represented by Circuit Solicitor D. C. Almon and Attorney W. W. Callahan having closed near 11:30 o'clock this morning. Many witnesses were expected to be put on the stand this afternoon, but officials expressed the opinion that Judge Osceola Kyle would charge the jury before the Wednesday session of the court was adjourned.

Defendant On Stand

A. L. Davis, the defendant, was placed upon the witness stand as the defense entered its fight to obtain a favorable decision. Davis told his story of the killing in a clear voice and then stood up under the fire of cross-examination directed toward him. Perdue Loosier, understood to have been an eye witness to the alleged shooting, was the other witness called by the defense prior to the noon recess.

Jury Selected

The list of jurors upon whom the responsibility for settling the Davis case, a case that has attracted hundreds of visitors throughout the county, was selected late Tuesday afternoon and the trial got underway. The jurors were housed at the Echols Hotel for the night under the care of Deputy H. M. Wiley. Those selected for jury service include: S. M. Willis, Somerville, R. 4; John K. West, Falkville, R. 1; Grant C. Morgan, Eva, R. 1; W. Perry Patterson, Lacon; Jesse T. Woodard, Falkville; James Johnston, Somerville, R. 3; R. S. Fox, Albany; Morris Ford, Albany; Perry C. Goforth, Albany; W. H. Fowler, Eva, R. 1; Sam W. Drinkard, Falkville, R. 1; Ed Ashford, Albany.

Rehearing Granted

Attorney John Sample, soon after the verdict had been rendered and sentence passed in the first hearing of the murder case, made it known that he would ask for a re-trial. This re-trial was granted some months later when the higher court ruled that some of the excluded evidence was admissible. Meanwhile Davis was held in custody and later was returned to Morgan county jail to wait the hearing of his second battle for freedom.

Meeting Set For This Afternoon

A conference was called for three o'clock this afternoon, between members of the board of directors of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and members of the business men's committee on an important industrial matter.

FARMERS WANT A PICKING MACHINE

Labor Condition Is Reason For Plea of Agriculture

RALEIGH, N. C., Sept. 15.—(AP)—The call has been sounded for co-operation among the Southern States to hasten the development of a practical cotton picking machine was sounded in a statement here tonight by William A. Graham, commissioner of agriculture for North Carolina.

Although the United States Department of agriculture has advised him that though it is interested in the perfection of such a device, it is not now in a position to participate actively in the experimental work that will be necessary. Commissioner Graham, however, states that he is not discouraged in his conviction that the picking of cotton by machinery is only a matter of time.

The commissioner wrote some time ago to the department of agriculture at Washington presenting his views and was told the matter would be taken under advisement. In a letter just received from C. F. Marvin, acting secretary, the opinion is expressed that the development of a practical cotton-picking machine will be a "gradual process involving much costly experiment."

"That may be true and probably is," declared Mr. Graham tonight, "but the sooner these processes are hastened, the sooner the South will have solved one of the biggest problems that confronts its farmers and the sooner an expense will be eliminated that now cuts into the profits of these farmers to an enormous degree."

"When the talk of a practical cotton gin was started such a device was regarded by some as an improbability. It is needless to go into details as to the development of the cotton gin, which was invented by Eli Whitney, up to that time an obscure northerner who, following his graduation, visited a Southern relative and conceived the idea that later revolutionized the cotton manufacturing industry."

Whitney's invention was patented in 1794 after which time he visited the legislatures of the cotton growing states and urged them to buy the patent rights for use in their respective states. The South Carolina Legislature purchased the right and paid $50,000 for it; and in 1804, the legislature of North Carolina bought the right for which they paid $30,000.

"Of course, the fostering influence of the United States department of agriculture is much to be desired. However, it seems to me that the cotton states themselves would do well to get together on the proposition of hastening the work of perfection a practical cotton-picking machine."

"There are several cotton-picking machines now in use. Inventors of some of these claim they are practical and can be economically used. While I have not made an exhaustive study of the feasibility of any of the devices already in use, there can be no doubt that, in time, there will be one perfected that will meet the South's needs."

"The South will be the direct beneficiary; and, that being the case, I see no reason why there should not be co-operation among Southern states. Representatives of these states could, with little expense, study the matter. None of the states would be obligated to go as far as the southern legislatures referred to went in purchasing the rights of the use of the cotton gin in the states. The findings of these states could be reported and assembled for study and there would be no doubt individuals and farmers organizations who would be glad to take a hand if something approximately 100 per cent efficiency could be perfected."

Says Ensley Woman In Speaking of the Results She Obtained From the Use of the Wonderful Remedy, Herb Juice.

"I think it is just wonderful how quickly your remarkable remedy, Herb Juice, has changed my badly rundown condition to that of a hale and hearty woman, and in such a remarkably short time," said Mrs. W. E. McBride who resides at 1711 Jefferson Avenue, Ensley, Ala. In a recent conversation with the representative of the Herb Juice Medicine company, Mrs. McBride said: "Out of all the remedies which I have taken for constipation, nervous and rundown condition," continued Mrs. McBride, "I have never had the pleasure of experiencing such wonderful results from anything as I have from your Wonderful Herb Juice. I have been constipated for years and as I grow older this condition seemed to grow worse, and in later years I have suffered intensely from dizziness and bilious attacks. As I said before, I was very nervous at times, could not sleep or rest well, lost strength and weight. Of course I like everyone else, took most everything I could hear of for these ailments, but without seeing any results at all. I kept going downhill all the time. At last saw the advertisements of the people who had taken this remedy with such splendid results that I decided to try it myself. I must confess that I have not seen anything work so wonderfully as this great medicine has in case. It has completely destroyed that constipated condition of which I suffered so long. I no longer have any more of those dizzy spells or bilious attacks. It has simply made a new woman out of me, built me up in every way. I feel so much better than I before taking this medicine. I have a splendid appetite, peacefully, have lots of energy, have gained ten pounds in weight and much strength. I know wonderful remedy is worthy of highest praise and I gladly recommend it to everyone."

This great laxative medicine, an herbal preparation known as Herb Juice, and is the biggest medicine on the market worth its name.

TODAY 12 Years Ago

From The Daily of September 15, 1914.

The Birmingham Barons, pennant winners, may play here within a few days, according to a letter received today by Curtis Gover.

New Decatur council last night accepted Riverview avenue and Ninth street paving.

A marriage of much interest will be consummated next Sunday afternoon at Union Springs when Miss Irma Sullivan becomes the bride of Mr. William Bryant of Montgomery.

Mrs. Herbert Hughes and infant have returned from Frankfort, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Thomas of Union Grove are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Thomas.

Meanwhile, Echols Hill is causing an unnecessary expense for maintenance.

Don't forget that the dream of a boulevard from Wilson avenue in Decatur to Fourth avenue at the intersection of Ninth street, Albany, can be made to come true with the proper spirit.

When Uncle John Rogers fixes things so that the Fish Pond section of the Courtland-Decatur road can be placed into good condition, Morgan contains will utter "well done thou good and faithful servant."

EXHIBITS ARE CALLED FOR BY NOON ON MONDAY.

Exhibits for the North Alabama fair will be called for until noon of Monday, September 20, the opening day of Albany-Decatur's first fair. That means that at that time Morgan county, Lawrence county and Limestone county will not have any further time to begin the exchange of ideas upon farming and its success. Those exhibits are an encouragement to every farmer in the section and the Daily is hopeful that the farmers from these three counties will take great care with their exhibits. Your neighbor is interested in what you are doing and how you are doing it, how you raised so many bales of cotton on your acreage, how you feed your stock, how you find success in raising and selling truck products. The fair is the chance for the farmer to help his brother farmer. The Daily feels that every farmer wants to help the other and that the exhibit halls will be filled with the agricultural pride of three counties.

NINE STATES GO TO THE POLLS TO SOLVE NATIONAL ISSUES.

The Associated Press carried a story on Tuesday to the effect that nine states were going to the polls to settle national issues, the wet and dry issue and the issue of the World Court. America today knows that there is no wet and dry issue to settle, that there is much propaganda being broadcast by the wet minority, but that the dries are sitting high in office with a record for business prosperity and good will that will not waver at the suggestion that the Volstead law be modified.

Men running on the platform of the wets today may a swell not have run at all. There is no such issue known to the American public, least of all to those people who once knew the dangers of free issuance of alcohol. The national condition is excellent financially, the local condition is above normal, business is twelve per cent above a normal. Why then ask if the wet and dry issue is again before the people? Why suggest such a thing when it is known that America is satisfied with the present state of affairs? America has her bootleggers, her murders, her bank thieves, her automobile accidents, but with it she has growing intelligence, full dinner pails, sensible voting and peace. There is no reason for injecting an issue that isn't present at this time and not at all likely to become a factor in any sort of election. The South is free from such contamination, races here are run between two good Democrats, or more as the case may be, but they do not run upon the camouflage of a wet and dry issue, for they know that the Southland is progressing and that the Southern voter is not looking for a loophole through which a shot may be fired at Volsteadism.

BOTH HIGH SCHOOLS PREPARE FOR ATHLETIC COMPETITION.

Though the afternoons are hot and playing conditions not all that coaches might wish for, the Albany-Decatur high school elevens have taken the field. Many candidates are out for the various positions, but not enough. Occasionally there is a fond parent who does not wish "John" to play for fear he will be injured in the rough game of football. "John" will learn better how to take care of himself on the football field than he will learn in several years of boxing. "John" will soon know his physical limitations, he will learn to use his head in the pinch, he will learn to know the value of co-ordination of work and play, he will know the advantage of having his fellow worker at his side and playing with the same system under which he is playing. He will learn the co-operative lesson from football, a lesson he will not receive in the classroom, yet a lesson that is worth a great deal in after life when "John" goes upon the gridiron of a business career.

For every crushed limb on the football field there are a thousand lessons of team work, for every discolored eye there is a deep consideration of the welfare of the man on the other team as well as the home team, for every drop of sweat there is a lesson of honorable competition, for every blistered foot there is a brawny shoulder and a quick-thinking brain, a brain that learns to act in the emergency. If football were not good for the growing youth colleges and universities long ago would have abandoned the payment of high salaries to coaches. Football inspires the student to attain higher averages in scholastic records, inspires sanitation in body and mind. Let "John" play if he will, his lessons will be worth much to him when he becomes a full-fledged citizen of his city.

THE WOMAN AND HER RELATION TO THE BUSINESS WORLD.

Arthur Brisbane never misses an opportunity to advise swimmers of the English Channel, champion tennis players, female rodeo enthusiasts that they could be of far more service to humanity if they "become a Nancy Hanks and raise an Abraham Lincoln." That gentleman seems to have Lincoln on the brain and yet it is quite probable that he has never figured out the percentage of people who have become president of the United States, in comparison with the population figures over that same period of time since Washington first took his post at the head of the administrative helm.

Rather does Mr. Brisbane say in his advice that the American woman should raise stalwart men, physically and mentally fit children, when he speaks of raising another Lincoln. He does not mean that each woman should devote her life to the raising of a president.

Perhaps one of the most interesting articles written for some months is gleaned from the editorial page of Hollands magazine in speaking of women in business:

We hear much about women in business; about their pay checks, their swivel chairs, their typewriters, their telephones, their office department. They're in the world's work—a splendid spectacle, and useful.

The most important of these women who are in business, however, are wives of business and professional men, in whose fair hands lies bankruptcy or success. Every woman who handles money, who manages a home, who controls the happiness of a man, is in business. And she who makes good in this responsibility becomes the only business woman who is indispensable to a partnership. A good stenographer may marry, and her place is promptly filled. A private secretary or an experienced clerk may resign, and her departure leaves no great wake behind. But a true mistress of the pennies, an expert practical psychologist, is more precious than rubies.

Many a brilliant man owes his sparkle to his wife; she who keeps his mind free from worry, who inspires him to keep his chin in the air and his face toward life. Many a dullard, it must be confessed, is the product of nagging years and spendthrift living. Many a man's spirit has been broken by a wife with the society germ.

There are numerous examples of wives who have taken their husbands' places at the coming of death or incapacitation. That's what comes of happiness at home, with its inevitable exchange of confidences; that's what comes of business competence given exercise in the domestic field.

The efficient wife has a bigger job, one of large responsibility, than the secretary to a steel magnate. And she is all too rare. Many a good woman goes through life never knowing that she measures not up to her full opportunities—striving to wedge her likeness into a rotogravure section, becoming ill-kempt and waddly while envying the "brazenness" of flappers in offices. Many a wife sets up a routine, follows it blithely through the years, and never even suspects that she is on the threshold of Big Business in its finest sense.

More and more, marriage is going to be spoken of as a career. More and more, the qualifications of wifehood are going to be generally recognized. And, going into reverse, intelligent career-seeking women are going to choose the business of marriage first and lesser vocations only if disappointment comes.

Women will always be in business. And wherever they are found their presence will soften and sweeten and brighten.

That certainly supports Mr. Brisbane's theory that a woman's place is in the home, in the raising of Christian men and women, in spurring husbands to greater goals.

Yet, when you speak of the "flapper" type of today there is no reason for forgetting that you too were young once upon a time and that you enjoyed the carefree experience of youth, that you regard the pages of the rotogravure section as a sort of heavenly attraction wherein you could come before the eyes of important people. All girls have dreams when they are young; dreams of wealth, social position, magnetic husbands who cast a power over the business world, making other men small in comparison. All girls do not get that type of a husband and thus they must forget their young dreams and settle down to the life of attainment. They settle sooner or later, much to the dismay of their elders and soon they are wondering too if the generation next is going to settle down. Many a good woman has asked her husband, "where is daughter going to end? What does she mean by the way she acts now?" Then again the same process of evolution of life, daughter settles and wonders if her daughter is going to settle.

But it is true that marriage is the greatest business institution known to man and woman alike. Man sometimes attains without the aid of his mate, but most of the time he is not imbued with sufficient personal ambition to bring him to his heights, that is he cannot reach the goal of which he is capable unless there is someone back of him to push.

(By ARTHUR BRISBANE)

California, supposed to lack iron. About half way between Los Angeles and San Francisco, there are twelve miles of iron sand, at present useless, that can be made into the best of steel by the new electric process. And California waterfalls will supply the electricity.

JAPAN, supposed to be dependent on us or Europe for iron and steel, is now independent. In Northern Japan, where the shores were tilted up by volcanic forces long ago, the Japanese have developed three hundred million tons of steel, available with the new process.

AMERICANS do not lag behind. The big steel company, Judge Gary, chairman; Mr. Farrell, president, has developed hundreds of millions of tons of steel in Brazil. There is great water power there, not used, but can be turned into electricity and then into cheap steel.

WALL STREET went to bed not quite so happy Friday night. Prices were off and some stock speculators received unpleasant notes about "margins."

Soon big wise ones, relying on the motto, "A fool is always a bull," will take the bear side and "pull out a long line." Shortly afterward, what a headache! This is no country to sell short. Gambling puts prices up too rapidly. But nothing really substantial and honestly managed in the United States is selling today for more than it is worth.

SIXTY - NINE philosophers from eighteen countries will gather at Harvard. A philosopher "loves wisdom," trying to understand what can not be understood.

From Thales to Spinoza it is the same story. "We know the questions, but not the answers." The best effort was made by Locke in his "Essay on the Human Understanding," seeking to establish the limits of human intelligence.

BENDETTO CROCE, famous Italian philosopher and atheist, life member in the Italian Senate, was brought up religiously. He became an atheist when an earthquake killed his father and mother, his only sister, and almost killed him. Had his family been spared and many others killed, he would have said: "That's a miracle," and might at this moment be more religious than ever.

That's the sort of "human understanding" we have.

SOMEWHERE in Mexico City a broadcasting station, hidden away, sends out daily denunciations of Mexico's policy, confiscating church property, forbidding religious teaching in schools, etc. Calles is annoyed and baffled.

But imagine how he would have felt had this happened twenty years ago, before radio was known. A voice from the air denouncing him and his laws in a thousand places would have brought him quickly to his knees, to adore the miracle. Now even the Mexican Indians know it is "only the radio."

AN armored dinosaur, thirty thousand years old, is set up in London's natural history museum, a fearful creature. And most intelligently British scientists have put in a little case next to the dinosaur a disease-carrying flea, ten thousand times more dangerous than the biggest dinosaur that ever lived.

Man has conquered his enemies, bears, wolves and tigers. His most dangerous enemies still remain, microscopic life and man's own nature.

Standardized Quality makes FINER PERFORMANCE and LONGER LIFE Mechanically Inevitable

in the CHRYSLER "60"

The Chrysler "60" is the product of Standardized Quality—a new and higher order of manufacture which actually makes any deviation from its exacting and superior standards mechanically impossible.

Obviously, because the Chrysler "60" is a car produced under such a plan, quality is built in and the Chrysler "60" must therefore also stand up immeasurably better under the strain of hard service.

Sixty miles, and more, per hour; get-away of 5 to 25 miles in 7 1/4 seconds; gas economy of 22 miles and more per gallon; characteristic Chrysler beauty; astonishing riding ease and roadability; the safety of Chrysler four-wheel hydraulic brakes; oil-filter and air-cleaner; full pressure lubrication; seven-bearing crankshaft; impulse neutralizer; road levelers front and rear; roomy, luxurious bodies.

Come in and see the new lighter six, Chrysler "60". We are confident you'll be convinced that nowhere will you find a six at its price that can begin to compare with this great Chrysler achievement.

CHRYSLER "60"—Touring Car, $1075; Roadster, $1145; Club Coupe, $1165; Coach, $1195; Sedan, $1295.
All prices f.o.b. Detroit, subject to current Federal excise tax.

Superior Performance Results from Superior Manufacturing

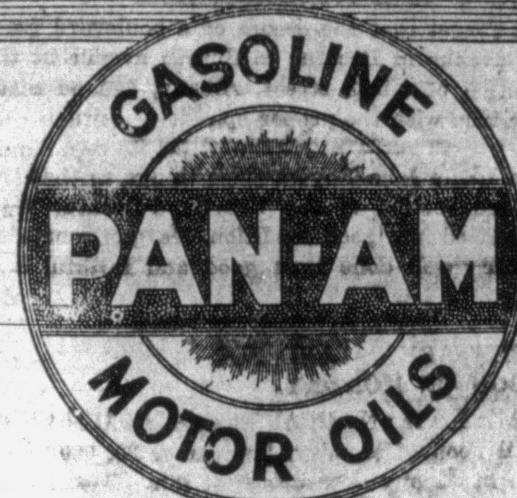

The Chrysler plan of Quality Standardization differs from, and is superior to, ordinary manufacturing practice and methods, because it demands fixed and inflexible quality standards which enforce the same scrupulously close limits—the same rigid rule of engineering exactness—the same absolute accuracy and precision of alignment and assembly—in the measurement, the machining and the manufacturing of every part, practice and process in four lines of Chrysler cars—"50", "60", "70" and Imperial "80".

OVER-KINDNESS IS NOT GOOD FOR HYSTERIA

Any Physical Cause for Hysteria or Neurasthenia Must First Be Eliminated and the Victim May Then Adjust Himself to Life.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

ONE of the distressing ailments sent to afflict the human family is "hysteria." Hysteria and what we call "neurasthenia" are closely related. They are not the same, by any means, because the mental attitude in the two conditions is entirely different. In hysteria there is a giving way to the impulses. Like a watch without a balance wheel, the victim just runs on, making no effort at self-control.

In neurasthenia we have an over-tired individual with whom we must deal. The neurasthenic tries to get rid of his trouble. He dreads all of the symptoms and would avoid them if he could. In consequence of his mental attitude he becomes the victim of numerous fears and anxieties. He is afraid he is going to have apoplexy or heart disease or cancer or some other ailment.

You can see that both the hysterical subject and the neurasthenic fail to adjust themselves to their surroundings. They have no powers of adaptability. In this sense, for the time they are mentally abnormal.

I doubt if there is any other problem presented to the doctor half as difficult as this one. It will tax his ingenuity and exhaust all his medical knowledge.

When it is possible to find a physical basis for the symptoms of hysteria it lightens the burden a lot. A good many times this can be done. Any derangement of the stomach or intestines may have such a profound effect upon the nervous system as to lead to the familiar symptoms of hysteria.

The age of maturity is a very important age both in boys and girls. Changes are taking place in the nervous system quite as important as those in the general physical system. They must be watched over at this critical time and every effort should be made to guard the health. Undue excitement, excessive effort in school, trade, or calling must be avoided. Pleasant surroundings, cheerful associates, and contented occupation are vital to the proper development of body and mind.

In the length of this short article it is impossible to go into any detail regarding the management of hysteria. It must be enough to say that merely to hug the victim, to let her live in the lap of luxury, and to encourage every vagary of mind, will be simply to perpetuate and aggravate the trouble. Deprivation is much more important in most cases of hysteria than it is in most cases of a family and not with an individual. The expression of the natural tendency and love of the parents and relatives will tend to perpetuate the disease rather than to control it. Every case must be studied on its merits and dealt with accordingly.

S. V. Q.—Is it harmful to eat half a grape fruit and a piece of toast for reducing purposes?

A.—No. The safest and surest way to take off superfluous flesh is to reduce the amount of food eaten at each meal and to eat only at meal times. For other particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and request your question.

R. L. C. Q.—My finger nails are full of vertical ridges and white spots. What can be done for this condition?

A.—Probably due to some constitutional disturbance. See your doctor for his opinion. The white spots may be due to improper handling of manicure instruments or rough treatment of the nails, and in this case will grow out with the nail.

R. H. R. Q.—I have a sore leg from the knee down and my ankle swells. If on the feet for any length of time the leg becomes inflamed. Have been taking a heart medicine and using cod liver oil on the leg. What would you advise?

A.—You probably have varicose veins aggravated by your heart trouble. Bandaging or wearing an elastic stocking should be helpful and the leg should be elevated above the heart level. See your doctor for the treatment necessary for your heart condition.

Men Talking of An Independent Team

Louisville and Nashville employes are talking of an independent team here this year, despite the fact that the season is almost ready to open and there has not been any effort on the part of those interested to raise funds for the purpose of buying equipment. Prospects for a hefty eleven of seasoned football talent are said to be excellent, many of the last year crew hoping to again don the colors of the L. and N. Considerable interest is said to be manifest among veterans of the team and among new men.

Reds Enter Lead In National As Cards Are Idle; Pirates Gaining

Cincinnati today entered the top rung of the National league ladder, winning from Brooklyn 5-1 while St. Louis was idle. The Pirates gained ground on St. Louis with a 5-0 defeat handed the Giants. Two and one half games separate the Pirates from the Reds and the Bucs are two games back of the Cards.

When Carl Mays, the submarine gent offered his services to Manager Hendricks yesterday the latter gentleman decided to give him a chance. The submarine artist responded with his nineteenth win of the season for the Redlegs, holding Brooklyn to five hits. Twelve hits off McGraw, the Robin reliance, gave the Reds their runs. Cincinnati's offensive centered about Walker, Roush and Critz, with Critz fielding a feature.

Critz started his brilliant work in the first inning. Scooping up a low roller which got past Mays, off Herman's bat, he tore in, swept the ball with his gloved hand and threw to Pipp in time to catch the runner, preventing a Brooklyn score. In the next inning he robbed Cox of a safety with a spectacular stab in front of second base.

Ray Kremer hung up his eighth win of the year against the Giants, holding the McGrawites to four hits. Kremer allowed no hits until the seventh when Frisch beat out a slow roller to Grantham. McQuillan who opened ceremonies for the Giants failed to find the distance back of Pirate bats and was relieved by Kent Greenfield. The Pirates scored all their runs in the first two innings, four in the first on five hits. Wanner hit a home run in the second to conclude the scoring for the day. The Cubs in fourth place lost ground when they were defeated by the lowly Phils 5-4. Hack Wilson, leading home run hitter of the National league sustained a possible fracture of the mastoid bone when Carlson hit him with a pitched ball behind the left ear, in the sixth inning.

Down in the Southern league miracles continue to happen. Birmingham took a pair from New Orleans, while the Chicks were taking another from the Noogans. The Pels obtained exactly six hits in the two games, three in each tilt. Curley Ogden and Emile Palmiero turned back the Pels 2-1 and 4-0. The Cuban seems to have a habit of turning folks back from the platter without any semblance of markers and that's what he did yesterday to the impending champions. The Southern league comes to a full rest for 1926 at the end of this week with the probability that all the Barons hopes for second place will be blasted. Memphis is playing excellent baseball and likely to end the year substantially connected with second place. The Dobbys have been off for some weeks and it is hardly likely that they can forge into second place with four and one half games keeping them away. They would have to win all this week while the Chicks were dropping everything in sight. That don't happen often in baseball.

Not a single game was played in the American yesterday. The Yanks, like the ancient race between the hare and the tortoise, choose to rest while the Indians tear up the earth in an effort to get in striking distance. That will not happen this year. The Indians have made a brilliant fight, but the Yank lead was far too well advanced before the Indians obtained their pennant aspirations.

Candidates Are On The Increase

Candidates for the Albany high school eleven are on the increase as the afternoons wear on. Coach Alford is driving his men through light workouts to begin with, getting rid of the surplus fat which must be made into drawn before the first game which is scheduled for October first with St. Bernard College. That game will be played in Cullman. Additional men are expected to be on the field this afternoon to take the workout. Signal drill and practice in blocking, clipping, and running interference will likely be held over until next week.

Athletic "Pep" In Chapel Meet

Decatur high school students had considerable athletic "pep" injected this morning at chapel exercises when talks were made regarding the coming football season.

East Alabama was at one time a game paradise.

"While baby was taking her nap, I put on two coats of Duco, and the carriage was ready to use when she woke up."

FOR DUCO is so easy to apply, dries so quickly, and flows on so smoothly without brush marks.

The smooth jewel-like surface resists wear and will not crack, blister, peel or become sticky under body heat. It washes perfectly and its lustre actually improves with use. Use it for all home decorating.

Here are some of the things you can do with DUCO:

- refinish the front stairs with DUCO after supper and walk up them when you go to bed
- refinish the porch floor with DUCO in the afternoon and dance on it that evening
- refinish your windowscreens, wire and frames with DUCO and put them in the windows the same day.

We carry DUCO in all popular colors and black and white. Any special tint can be secured by intermixing.
